WeChat was among the 59 mobile applications with Chinese links that India banned on June 29, a fortnight after 20 Indian soldiers were killed in a clash with the Chinese army in Ladakh.

TikTok, Helo, UC Browser, ShareIt, Shein, Club Factory, and CamScanner were among the other apps that were banned.

On Monday, the government banned another 47 apps with links to China. WeChat stopped its services in India on Saturday.

Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation in three wards of Mumbai, was done on 6,936 people – 61 per cent of them slum-dwellers and the remaining 39 per cent in residential societies.

The survey also found that more women than men had developed antibodies. Among people in slums, 59.3 per cent of the 2,297 women tested, and 53.2 per cent of the 1,937 men tested had antibodies against Covid. In non-slum areas, 16.8 per cent of women tested and 14.9 per cent of men tested had developed antibodies.

However, until now, RT-PCR tests in Mumbai had showed more men (55 per cent) getting infected in the first fortnight of July. At 57.8 per cent, Matunga, which is close to Dharavi, had the highest exposure rate.

Explaining the higher exposure to the virus among people in slums, officials who conducted the survey said shared facilities such as toilets, high population density and lack of physical distancing may be among reasons why those living in slums were 3.5 times more exposed to the virus than people in housing societies.

Luknow: Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot's allegation about his MLAs being poached by the BJP is akin to the pot calling the kettle black because he "unconstitutionally" merged six BSP MLAs in the Congress last year, said BSP chief Mayawati on Tuesday.

"The Congress is saying that their MLAs are being stolen, which is unlawful, and is against the public mandate. But their claim is laughable since they themselves did the same when they took away our BSP MLAs... It is akin to the proverb ulta chhoti kotwal ko daante (the pot calling the kettle black)," Mayawati said in a statement. ENS
